

Leading Santa's sleigh is tough!

Supporting epilepsy research is easy!

Please send in a blood sample on your dog for Dr. Ned Patterson's Aussie epilepsy research study at the University of Minnesota, and please make a tax deductible donation to Toby's Foundation to continue to help us in the fight against canine epilepsy. Please see the information below. Blood samples from affected dogs are particularly needed. If you have any questions please visit our website and/or email us.

Your holiday donation in Honor of or in Memory of a beloved dog, a special friend, a relative or co-worker would make a unique and meaningful gift while you help us support the research. An acknowledgement card will be sent to whomever you specify.

RESEARCH NEWS: Three chromosome areas have been identified that may be related to contributing to epilepsy in the Australian Shepherd breed. Please visit the Research page on our website or see our September 4, 2012 AussieE-Update newsletter to read about this and other research news.
